

2023 Jacko500 Racing

March 2023

FWT ORLANDO

In March we had the opportunity to compete at the Florida Winter Tour in Orlando. This was my second time racing at Orlando Kart Center which is one of my favourite tracks. We unfortunately had an issue with the Kart that was hurting our straight line speed, on the race starts I was always able to gain several spots but as the race went on I would lose positions on the straightaways. We think we have the issue solved and hope to be back to full power for the Canadian season. Despite this I still had a great time, finished 13th out of 25 and learned new techniques in braking and defensive driving.

COMING UP

Racing in Florida is fun but I am super excited that the Canadian racing season is just around the corner. My home track, Canadian Mini Indy in Hamilton, does not start until May but Mosport Kart Center is starting their season in Mid April so we have decided to start our season there. Mosport is another one of my favourite tracks and it will be great experience to race alongside everyone there.

This year will be my 2nd year in the Mini Rok division and for Briggs we will be moving up from Junior Lite to Junior which will be a great new challenge.

RACES I AM MOST LOOKING FORWARD TO

We have a long season ahead of us, we will be competing in the full 16 race schedule as part of the Hamilton Regional Kart Club (HRKC,) all 8 Races of the Ron Fellows Karting Championship (MRFKC), as well as several races in the Mosport International Karting Association (MIKA) schedule. On top of that we have several one off races that I am very excited about including:

- Canadian Nationals
- Dash For Cash
- Canadian Open
