August 2023

JULY RECAP

July was our busiest month so far and we came out of it with some mixed results and some valuable lessons learned.

All year we have raced 2 classes, Briggs Jr. and Mini ROK, the two require a very different driving style and while I love both, doing them on the same day can be a challenge as I have to adapt my driving style. Also, for my Mechanic (Dad) it is a lot of work with very little time between sessions and sometimes mistakes happen. We have decided that for the rest of the year we will focus our efforts on the Mini ROK Class and only run Briggs on the days when there is no ROK Race. By focusing our efforts we will be able to achieve the success we want, this is a case where less may mean more.

DASH FOR CASH

Dash for Cash is one of my favourite races of the year. It is a party atmosphere and the winners each get a cheque. Mini ROK was a bit wild, I qualified on Pole but had a DNF in the Pre-Final with a flat tire. We knew we had the pace to win and never gave up, in the final we went from last to first to win my 3rd Dash For Cash race. In Briggs, I had the race lead but it was raining and I spun. I recovered nicely and still finished on the podium in 3rd.

MRFKC ROUND 3

Round 3 (race 5 and 6) was at our Home Track and we thought this was a real chance to build on our points lead. Things started off well as we qualified on pole and won the pre-final but in the final my kingpin came loose and I was unable to finish the race.

On Sunday we made the wrong call on tires for the final. It had been raining so we went out on wets but while we were on grid it stopped raining and the track dried fast. Those that gambled and went with dry tires had a huge advantage. I was still able to finish the race in 5th and now sit in 2nd in the Championship with one round to go.

UP NEXT!

August is going to be just as busy as we have the Constructors Cup August 12th and 13th and the Canadian National Karting Championship August 17th - 20th. Last year I finished 2nd at Nationals, I will be working hard and doing all I can to win my first Canadian Championship.
